– Most of the material on this site has now been published in book form. A link “Publications” has been placed on the home page to access an online bookshop, courtesy of Lulu self-publishing.

The prices on the site are merely the printing costs given by Lulu. We make no profit from selling any of the publications. In fact, we don’t believe in making any kind of monetary profit when it comes to spiritual things. Matthew 10:8 tells us: “...freely ye have received, freely give.”

It must be stressed that all the published material in the books is available in pdf form on this web site anyway, and can be downloaded for free here. There is no new material in the books, they are simply available for anyone who prefers to read real books.

In addition to the material from this web site, “An Exposition of the Apostles’ Creed” by William Perkins, has also been published in paperback and hardback from the Lulu site. This is also available for free from:
